

I would like to say that I have listened to K-LOVE radio in the Denver area for more than 7 years. I actually found the station when it was owned and operated by a local College. The Denver area has DOZENS of radio stations but K-LOVE is the ONLY commercial free, LISTNER SUPPORTED, religious station. I rarely ever listen to secular radio. I have yet to find a radio station that broadcasts programming that doesn't require some censure on my part due to objectionable content. I firmly believe that K-LOVE provides a valuable service to the community by being a big part of many local outreaches. I feel it would be a big loss to the community as a whole to lose this station. While I do not understand how the new LPFM system works, I do know that in most things there is more than one way to do things. I respectfully ask that you consider alternative ways to accomplish what the LPFM people want to do. It would be a big loss to the community as a whole to lose a station like K-LOVE.

Thank you for the opportunity you have provided to share my opinion.
